

Court Upholds Security Law

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—A 1954 law to compel witnesses to give testimony in cases involving national security, in return for immunity from prosecution, was upheld today by the Supreme Court 7-2.

Justice Frankfurter, speaking for the majority, said the Fifth Amendment privilege against compulsory self-incrimination ceases when "immunity replaces danger" of prosecution.

Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which he said the framers of the Constitution "put it beyond the power of Congress to compel anyone to confess his crimes."

Douglas, whose opinion was concurred in by Justice Black, said "the privilege of silence is exchanged for a partial, undefined, vague immunity" and that "Congress has granted far less than it has taken away."

The court's decision affirmed the contempt conviction in New York of William Ludwig Ullmann, first person to be punished under the law.

Ullmann, called before a federal grand jury investigating a Washington wartime espionage ring, refused to answer questions, claiming the privilege against self-incrimination.

Upon recommendation of Atty. Gen. Brownell, U. S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld promised Ullmann immunity from prosecution as a result of any testimony he gave. When he still refused to answer questions, Judge Weinfeld sentenced him to six months in jail.

Frankfurter said the act gives a witness immunity from state as well as federal prosecution resulting from compelled testimony.

Frankfurter said the law reflects a congressional policy "to increase the possibility of more complete and open disclosure" in security cases by removing fear of state as well as federal prosecution.

"We cannot say that Congress' paramount authority in safeguarding national security does not justify the restriction it has placed on the exercise of state power for the more effective exercise of conceded federal power," Frankfurter wrote.

Provision

The court specifically ruled only on a provision to compel testimony before federal grand juries and in federal courts. Another provision, to compel testimony before congressional committees, was not directly involved in the Ullmann case. Frankfurter said it was not necessary to rule at this time on compelled testimony before congressional committees.

In other major actions today: 1. The court agreed to review the first two convictions under the "knowing membership" section of the Smith Act. This makes it a crime to belong to the Communist party with knowledge it advocates violent overthrow of the government.

Convictions which will be ruled upon, but not before the court's next term starting in October, are those of Claude M. Lightfoot, Chicago Negro, and Julius I. Scales, party leader in Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Lightfoot, for many years executive secretary of the party in Illinois, received a five-year sentence and a $5,000 fine. Scales received a six-year sentence, but no fine. Both are free on bond pending outcome of their appeals.

Previous Smith Act prosecutions, including those of top party leaders, had been under another section of the law. This section makes it a crime to conspire to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

U.N. Delays Final Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The U. N. Security Council agreed today to postpone final action until next week on a United States plan to send Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a special peace mission to the Middle East.

The decision was reached after Israel and four of her Arab neighbors—Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Egypt—had asked permission to state their views on the proposal. They told delegates privately that they would not be ready to speak before next week at the earliest.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. opened today's meeting by appealing for urgent action to meet what he called the most serious challenge ever faced by the U. N.

It soon became apparent, however, that several delegates, including Arkady A. Sobolev of Soviet Russia, wanted to hear the Israeli and Arab representatives before taking a final position on the U. S. proposal.

The view was presented finally in a formal proposal by Iranian Delegate Djafar Abdolmohammadi for a recess until Tuesday, April 3, to permit the Middle East countries to prepare their statements.

Conferees Begin Remodeling Job

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Senate-House conferees began their remodeling job on the farm bill today and reported "good progress" after a three-hour session behind closed doors.

The big election-year measure must be worked over from top to bottom to reconcile differences between the House version, approved last year, and a bill passed by the Senate a week ago.

Secret Service Investigates Possibility Of 'Poisoned' Gingerale On President's Train

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—A Secret Service investigation was under way tonight to determine whether "poisoned" gingerale was served aboard a private railroad car four days before President Eisenhower boarded it.

"We don't think there has been any plot aimed at the President," Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman said, "but we do want to find out all there is to know about the situation."

Revisions For Tax Bill Reach House

HARRISBURG, March 26 (AP)—The long-awaited revisions to the new 3 per cent sales tax law reached the House tonight.

They were clarifying amendments designed to aid the Justice Department in writing regulations for collection of the $22 million dollar levy that went into effect March 6.

The changes are bipartisan and both sides predicted passage by the end of next week.

One of the changes specifically spells out that the retailer must file tax returns with the Revenue Department. The present term used is taxpayer which some lawmakers interpreted could mean the final consumer.

Spells Out
Another revision specifically spells out that live animals, fish and birds intended for human consumption are specifically exempt from the levy which is intended to apply to the purchase of household pets.

Both Republicans and Democrats also plan to introduce additional amendments which have been considered controversial. They range from wiping out the stamp plan for collection of the tax starting July 1 to exempting household supplies from the levy.

In another development, Gov. Leader said Democrats—after opposing it for nine months—are ready to go along with giving farmers a 100 per cent refund on taxes paid on gasoline used in farm machinery.

"There is no reason on earth for a farmer to pay such a tax on the gasoline he uses in the process of raising food and not traveling on our roads," said Leader.

House and Senate conferees were locked since last June in a disagreement on how much of the levy should be returned to farmers.

The full refund would cost the state about a million dollars a biennium.

Meanwhile, the Senate refused to go along with House plans to triple the salary of lawmakers to $9,000 for a two-year session and to boost the salaries of judges and other state officials.

The refusal laid the groundwork for sending the measure to a (Please Turn To Page 10)

White Papers Published

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee today published a volume of the private papers of the late Harry Dexter White. Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said they cast "a revealing light" on the former Treasury official's activities.

White, who has been accused of being a Soviet spy, died in 1948 after denying to the House Committee on Un-American Activities that he ever was a Communist or had engaged in espionage.

Director
He served as an assistant secretary of the Treasury in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations and in 1946 was appointed U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund.

Eastland said the Internal Security subcommittee, of which he is chairman, has made a long study of White's record in the home that it "might furnish hitherto unavailable links in the chain of evidence respecting the Communist conspiracy within our government."

Lighting Requested
HARRISBURG, March 26 (AP)—The House tonight sent to the Senate a resolution that would urge better lighting in tunnels of the Pennsylvania Turnpike system.

By food eaten at a private home earlier.

President Eisenhower, who boarded the car in Washington last night to come to White Sulphur Springs for his talks with the President of the Mexico and the Prime Minister of Canada, had not been told of the incident tonight.

Baughman ordered what he called a "routine investigation" a few hours after Eisenhower arrived here this morning. The President had a steak breakfast in the car before leaving the train, but no soft drinks.

Some grocery prices continued downhill last month, but other consumer costs went up to leave the nation's living cost index for February unchanged from January.

The Labor Department reported today that food prices dropped four-tenths of one per cent from January, their fifth consecutive monthly decline. This brought average food prices to their lowest point since December, 1950.

Eisenhower Plays Host To Leaders Of Canada, Mexico During Meeting

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower, the host, arrived first in this Allegheny Mountain resort and was joined late in the day by President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico and Canada's Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The U. S. chief executive had a cordial greeting for his two friends from north and south of the border. They arranged for a mutual interest at an informal dinner tonight.

Special Train
Eisenhower's special train

pulling in from Washington at 7:30 a. m., and he got in a round of golf with top notcher Sammy Snead while awaiting the arrival of his guests.

Just before Ruiz Cortines and St. Laurent checked in at the conference headquarters, the swanky Greenbrier Hotel, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty repeated that no agenda has been prepared for the sessions.

Hagerty said Eisenhower had asked him to tell newsmen the meeting was called "for the purpose of getting to know each other better."

The President added, Hagerty reported, that the cordial informality could be compared to a gathering where "two neighbors drop in to dinner — people living on either side of the house."

St. Laurent arrived from Ottawa eight and a half hours after Eisenhower got in, and Ruiz Cortines came on the scene an hour after the Canadian leader. Ruiz Cortines flew from Mexico City to Charleston, W. Va., in Eisenhower's four-engine private plane, Columbine III, then was ferried here in a smaller plane.

A small plane also brought St. Laurent from Charleston after he arrived there from his home capital in a Canadian government plane.

Eisenhower went out on the walk in front of the hotel to welcome both his guests.

"Welcome to the Greenbrier," he told St. Laurent. "You are looking well. I sent a delegation to the airport to meet you, but I thought I'd come out this far."

Smiling broadly, the Prime Minister replied: "It's always a great pleasure to shake hands with you Mr. President."

Eisenhower was hatless in a brown suit as he ushered the Canadian into the hotel while a crowd of two or three hundred applauded.

Senate Investigators Fail To Obtain Papers On Policy

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee bumped into a wall of resistance today when it tried to get confidential papers on Communist trade policy from high administration officials.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and John B. Hollister, foreign aid administrator, all refused to give the information on the grounds it would violate national security and that it was confidential material of the executive branch of the government anyway.

The officials renewed their offer to tell behind closed doors the full story of the 1954 agreement with Western nations to relax some of the controls on trade with Russia and her Communist satellites.

Accepts Offer
Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), the subcommittee's chairman, accepted this offer today, after having rejected it on an earlier occasion.

A secret session may be held Wednesday to hear the confidential testimony. But Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) served notice he might not necessarily feel bound to keep all of the story secret.

"The chair orders and directs you" to yield the information, McClellan said. He was supported in this demand by McCarthy. But all three witnesses refused.

The tense situation brought on a brief clash between Republican and Democratic members of the subcommittee.

"If this is going to be a political persecution," said Sen. Mundt (R-SD), "I want my chance to make a stump speech."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) had just suggested caustically that if Weeks had read his own testimony before he came to the hearing he might have been in a better position to discuss some of the points.

Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) called it "shocking" that McClellan should interrupt Weeks before the secretary could complete some of his answers.

McClellan protested against "uncalled for remarks" and "pounded his gavel to get the hearing back on its course."

Jackson warned Hoover "you are going to stir up the entire United States Senate" by refusing to testify about the trade embargo list except behind closed doors.

There were no indications here, however, of any serious trouble. Kupradze said in a telephone interview that classes at the university were going on normally and that there has been no general student strike.

Despite repeated efforts, it has so far been impossible for any reporter or Western diplomat to go to Georgia.

The edition of Dawn of The East which reached Moscow today carried an article titled: "Education of youth is everyday work — on serious failings of party political work in the Stalin-Tiflis University."

Communist University Official Fired

MOSCOW, March 26 (AP)—Tiflis University's Communist party secretary has been fired for failure to indoctrinate students with communism. Officials and teachers at the university are under criticism for failure to enforce "rules of socialist order."

These fresh indications of widespread disaffection among the youth of Georgia, Joseph Stalin's home republic, were disclosed in Saturday's issue of the Tiflis newspaper Dawn of The East, which reached Moscow today.

It said the students have been cutting classes wholesale for more than a year, many have had to be punished at the university or arrested and some have been guilty of hooliganism (the Soviet term for antisocial activity).

Moves
Previously Dawn of The East had told of Communist party moves against the university administrators and said the rector, V. Kupradze, had been charged with failure to maintain discipline.

On March 9 students at Tiflis were given a half holiday during which they paraded, carrying banners displaying portraits of Stalin and Lenin, the founder of the Communist Soviet state.

Dawn of The East's editorial indicated that, long before the current Kremlin campaign to smash the Stalin myth was publicized, students and other persons in his native Georgia already were showing renewed signs of their intense pride in their separate nationality.

This was apparently intensified when the full-scale anti-Stalin drive began, and burst forth in various local disorders.

No Indication
There were no indications here, however, of any serious trouble. Kupradze said in a telephone interview that classes at the university were going on normally and that there has been no general student strike.

Firemen Make Plea For Clothing

REEDERS — Six persons, including two small children, were left homeless late yesterday when their five-room log home here was destroyed by fire.

Jackson Township volunteer firemen said the building was owned by Ed Doll of Reeders, and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Kindrew, their daughter, son-in-law and two infants. Firemen were unable to identify the others by name.

Firemen immediately launched an appeal for clothing—particularly for the children—and for bedroom furnishings and other items. The evacuees were given temporary shelter last night at the home of neighbors.

Carl Price, fire company secretary, said the two-story dwelling, valued at about $1,000, was completely destroyed because the blaze gained considerable headway by the time firefighters arrived along with three pieces of apparatus.

Save Contents
However, the firemen were able to save the contents of the first floor, Price said.

The fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated chimney, was discovered about 4:30 p. m. by Mrs. Rena Shick, of Stroudsburg RD3, while her car was stopped behind a school bus near the home.

Price said the woman saw the roof explode and immediately sent a student aboard the bus, Barbara Nevill, to the building to warn the occupants.

Mrs. Shick then notified the fire department, after which she returned to help remove the occupants. Price said two adults and the two children were in the home at the time.

Draw Water
Upon arrival, the volunteers drew water from Trout Lake, located about 200 yards from the building.

Price said the house, one of the oldest in Jackson Township, was about to be torn down.

He also disclosed that the fire company will accept clothing and other donations for the occupants. It's understood that one youngster is about two years old, the other about eight months.

Lenten Meditation

By Pastor John B. Bergstresser

THE PSALMIST says, "None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him: for the redemption of their soul is precious . . . (Ps. 49:7-8) St. Peter reminds us, "Ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot . . . (1 Peter 1:18-19).

God wants to impress upon His people the solemn fact that sin is a terrible thing which cannot be lightly taken. Something precious was needed to pay the penalty of sufferings and death of the Son of sin. The highest and most precious God? How dare we think lightly of things in the universe, the only be-sin! How can we love and take pleasure in the Son of God, who was sacrificed, sure in that which caused the Son of God? Jesus Christ is true God and true man. When we behold our sin, we are as white as snow; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though your sins be as red like crimson, they shall be as wool." No matter how great your sin, the atonement (at-one-ment with God) offered by Christ is sufficient to make amends.

upon the altar of the Cross, God paid the price of sin in full.

What more impressive proof of the awfulness of sin and its dreadful consequences could we ask than the need was to pay the penalty of sufferings and death of the Son of sin. Gap Between Legion, 40&8 Grows Wider INDIANAPOLIS, March 26 (P) — The gap between the American Legion and the 40 & 8 legion fun-making society, was widened today as the 40 & 8 National Executive Committee voted to hold a separate convention this year.

The committee said the legion had refused to make provisions for the 40 & 8 to meet with it at the legion's 1956 convention in Los Angeles. The 40 & 8 will meet here Sept. 28-30.

Failure

The move signaled failure of an attempt at last year's legion convention in Miami to smooth other differences between the two organizations.

The 40 & 8, charging "dictatorship" by the legion, last year threatened to sever relations with the parent organization. But at Miami the fun-making society's executive committee decided instead to negotiate its grievances.

However, 40 & 8 officials said today the legion had failed to appoint a committee for negotiations although William A. Schlupp of Chicago, 40 & 8 national commander, had named his committee.

Long Bow Legal For Taking Carp

HARRISBURG, March 26 — Long bow and arrow is now a legal device for taking carp in Pennsylvania. The announcement was made late yesterday by William Voigt, Jr., Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

The signature of Governor Lead- er to the "Archery-Carp" Bill amends Section 50, clause (d) of the Fish Code by adding "Nothing in this section shall prohibit the use of long bows and arrows for taking or killing carp."

Support

The bill had the support of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. Its enactment provides an additional means of recreation. It is also looked upon as a possible means of helping in the control of a species of fish that is not totally desirable tenant of many of the Commonwealth's waters. With the passage of the bill, Pennsylvania became the 25th State to legalize taking carp a-la-Robin Hood.

In addition to explaining that a fishing license is required to engage in the sport, Voigt cautioned that the March 14-April 15 fishing ban on waters of the State stocked with trout extends to bow and arrow fishing. Also pointed out is specific mention in the bill of the long bow and arrow as the legal device, which precludes the use of the cross bow or the bow sig.

The Mississippi system has over 12,000 miles of navigable waterway.

Plans For Route 611 Bridge Construction Being Aired

Consideration Of Route 169 Also Underway

PLANS FOR THE reconstruction of the two flood-battered bridges on Route 611 between Bartonsville and Tannersville are now being considered in Harrisburg.

Word to this effect was received yesterday by Monroe County commissioners as they declared that the State must take immediate steps to remedy traffic conditions over this stretch before the tourist season begins.

News that the bridge plans are in Harrisburg was contained in a report on the March 20th meeting of the Public Utilities Coordinating Committee of Berks, Carbon, Lehigh, Monroe, Northampton and Schuylkill counties.

Committee

The committee report also disclosed that Harrisburg has also received plans for work on Route 169 between Henryville and Ananok.

"In addition," the report continued, "plans will be sent to Harrisburg this week for Route 324, between Ananok and Candensis. However, this merely involves reconstruction of existing roadway and will probably not affect any facilities."

The committee further reported that "plans for the Reading and Stroudsburg by-pass will also probably be ready by the end of this year."

Meanwhile, county commissioners disclosed yesterday they have advertised for bids for reconstruction of the Hoveytown Bridge over Big Bushkill Creek between Middle Smithfield Township and Lehman Township in Pike County.

Bids, to be opened by the county board April 9, are for the construction of a two span pre-stressed, pre-cast, reinforced concrete bridge. The cost will be shared by Pike County.

Board Chairman John R. Lesoine said the commission was forced to delay advertising for bids for the Hoveytown project until plans were approved by the State.

First Approval

"This is the first bridge in the county which has been approved," Lesoine said. "We'll now push the construction of seven others which were washed out by the flood."

Lesoine commented that the commission has been constantly after the highway department to do something to ease congestion on Route 611 between Bartonsville and Tannersville.

The board has suggested that northbound traffic continue to be routed over the existing detour, and that temporary bridges be built to handle the flow of southbound traffic.

Commissioners observed that water deposits and frost are causing the detour road to break up.

"In my opinion," said Lesoine, "the road may be broken to such an extent to make the detour impassable once the frost has left the ground."

"Something must be done immediately," the board chairman added. "Not only is traffic involved, but local resorts will suffer economically if immediate steps are not taken to remedy the situation."

The county board has also requested that the Stop Sign and flashing red light at the Bartonsville end of the detour be removed to allow a steady flow of traffic when the rush season begins.

"If this is not done," said Lesoine, "Sunday driving may become a nightmare."

He claimed that traffic was backed almost as far as Swiftwater one Sunday afternoon last Fall.

Stroud Union Holds Reading Workshop

FIRST reading workshop since the formation of the Stroud Union School District yesterday was conducted at the Ramsey School under the leadership of Miss Mary Barnett, a reading consultant.

Some 45 elementary teachers and student teachers attended the sessions.

A discussion by Miss Barnett on "Related Reading Activities" was highlighted by a demonstration with six first grade youngsters from the Ramsey School. They were Elizabeth Ann Heintze, Darlene Gehris, Billie Altenose, Will Ann Bossler, Anne Patterson and Kim Williams.

Groups

The teachers then were divided into three discussion groups studying the recent issue of "The Reading Teacher."

Kindergarten, first and second grade instructors composed a group led by Miss Eloise Bryan. Mrs. Carolyn Wilson was recorder.

Miss Barnett was leader of a group of third and fourth grade teachers. Harry Anton was recorder for this group. And fifth and sixth grade teachers attended a discussion led by Mrs. Lydia Straite with Woodrow Berger serving as recorder.

The last portion of the workshop was related to construction of materials, which will be used in conjunction with the instructional program in reading.

Directors Of Chamber Favor Forming Service Committee

DIRECTORS OF THE Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce voted yesterday to retain its present $40 voting membership fee for the current fiscal year.

In doing so, the board followed the recommendation of its membership committee, headed by Tom Campbell.

Meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, the directors also favored setting up a service committee which would devise ways to give regular, as well as emergency assistance to members.

It was noted that the Chamber was able to lend a helping hand to the Hi-Grade Blouse Co., when its building recently was destroyed by fire.

Possibility

A board member, Paul McBride, chairman of the industrial committee, indicated that a new industry may locate here after conferring with Chamber officials regarding the benefits the area has to offer.

McBride declined naming the firm, but said it would probably employ 50 to 100 persons, mostly in the skilled trades, should it locate here.

Directors also turned over to the Chamber's executive committee a proposal that it give financial aid to the Monroe County Land and Building Co., headed by Rev. Roger C. Stimson.

This action was taken after Frank S. LaBar informed other board members that the company needed $25,000 before homes could be made available for middle-income families.

LaBar said the land company is selling $100 stock shares to finance the cost of developing its tract off W. Main St., at the Stroudsburg-Stroud Township line.

Relief

LaBar expressed the belief that the new homes, which will be made available with the help of long-term FFA loans, will help to relieve any housing shortage in the area.

The Chamber will launch a membership drive with a kick-off breakfast early next month.

$150 Damage In Main St. Accident

DAMAGE amounting to an estimated $150 was inflicted to an automobile driven by Mrs. Christiana Albert, 30 Oakland St., East Stroudsburg, last night.

The accident took place at Fourth and Main Sts.

Traffic Stops

Albert J. Smith, 188 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg, was driving a coal truck toward the East Borough when traffic halted immediately in front of him. Smith swung out of line in an effort to avoid colliding with the car in front and ran into the front-left portion of Mrs. Albert's 1956 model automobile.

The $150 was all to Mrs. Albert's car. There were no personal injuries.

Exchange Club Presents Check To Borough

EAST Stroudsburg Exchange Club presented the borough of East Stroudsburg with a check for $4,000 for development of Crestview Heights, a housing development now in the process of construction.

Jesse S. Flory, chief burgess, accepted the check in behalf of the borough. Crestview Heights is a development planned for those people who lost their homes in last August's flood.

One of the streets in the new development will be known as Exchange St.

Girl of Month

A number of East Stroudsburg borough councilmen were also present at the meeting.

Barbara Susan Barrow, senior at East Stroudsburg High School, was honored as girl of the month. Barbara is president of the student council and very active in school affairs. Gilbert Dunning, vice president of the club, made the presentation in the presence of Morton Barrow, Barbara's father.

Plans for the Miss Pocono Mountains presentation at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on May 19 were reportedly progressing well, as are plans for the East Stroudsburg Junior High School appearance of the United States Marine Corps Band on Sept. 19.

The East Stroudsburg club also joined in celebrating the 45th birthday of National Exchange Clubs.

Salk Vaccine Supply Low

PRIVATE physicians reportedly have not received any new supplies of the Salk vaccine in some time, Dr. Frederick Jones, county medical director, said last night.

On Order

In answer to an inquiry, Dr. Jones explained that new supplies have been ordered by Monroe County doctors. "But only a certain amount can be made," said the medical officer, "and all supplies have to be checked by Washington before release."

Two Days Of Vacation

MONROE County commissioners announced yesterday that the courthouse will be closed Good Friday and the Saturday before Easter.

Success Or Failure Of Red Cross Drive Up To Residential Division Canvassers

Two down and one to go.

That's the story of the annual Red Cross roll call in Monroe County.

This is the final week of the campaign. Success or failure will be measured by how well the house-to-house canvassers come through in their phase of the drive.

To date, two-thirds of the county's $19,290 goal has been subscribed. With $13,000 already accounted for, largely through special gifts, the residential solicitation will have to bring in nearly seven thousand dollars to put the campaign over the top.

National Red Cross coffers, prior to the start of the March drive for funds and members, were down to one million dollars—less than the amount of money the organization spent in this county after last August's flood.

This is a piddling sum, considering the fact that the Spring tornado and flood season is just beginning and there will be myriad demands on the Red Cross to provide quick relief for disaster victims.

And don't forget when you give your annual contribution, disaster relief is only one of the many services which the Red Cross is called upon to furnish 12 months of every year.

Do your bit today. None of us can foretell when the tomorrow will come when an emergency will arise and we'll again need the assistance of the Red Cross.

Public Cooperation Urged In Bringing About Reduction Of Unnecessary Noises

Anti-noise campaigns which are being waged in various sections of the country strike a sympathetic note wherever no organized attempt is made to reduce the constant din set up by our modern way of living.

Excessive and unnecessary horn-blowing seems to create the greatest problem for countless individuals with already frayed nerves. Trucks and buses, especially those powered by diesel units, and automobiles equipped with cut-outs or damaged mufflers likewise distract and annoy.

Of course, motor vehicles are only one source of noise. Trains, airplanes, the rattling of cans by garbage men in the early morning hours, a delivery man unloading cargo at a grocery, a neighbor slamming doors or shoveling snow before it's time for you to get out of bed—all these and many more can make you wish you were wearing cotton in your ears.

Sometimes the noise can't be helped; too often, however, it's a nuisance that could be reduced with a little thought and regard for the other person.

One noise that could be eliminated altogether, we are sure, is the serenading that takes place in the hour or hours immediately after a wedding. Two, three or a half dozen cars, with their horns blowing madly, parade the newly married couple up and down the main streets through heavy traffic so that the world can share the young couple's big moment. All too frequently, of course, the newlyweds can't be identified by the passing throng, so the time and effort—not to mention noise—were largely wasted.

Saturday seems to be a favorable day for weddings. It is also the day when traffic is heaviest in the Poconos during the vacation season. Thus wedding parades contribute to the congestion on busy streets.

It seems that a municipal ordinance is unnecessary in any noise abatement program here. Rather, if the public will lend its cooperation and use common sense, we can have a quieter and more pleasant community in which to live.

George Sokolsky Says...

Extra Attaches Who Clutter Up Embassies Often Mess Up American Foreign Relations

I always thought that whoever worked for the State Department was a diplomat or a consul or a clerk who coded and decoded messages. I had been accustomed to think of the State Department as being a foreign service, as looking after the international relations of the country, as trying to maintain the peace whereas the Department of Defense prepared for war.

But now I receive a complaint from the American Chemical Society that the State Department's scientific corps has deteriorated. Apparently, there used to be scientists in the State Department whose business it could have been to tell the Secretary of State what a molecule is, but alas! they have all been fired and now the Secretary of State will have no one to tell him what a molecule is except the Under Secretary of State who knew such things long before he became a diplomat.

Apparently—and most Americans, I am sure never heard of it—there was an International Science Steering Committee which was headed by an engineer, Lloyd V. Berkner. This Committee advised the State Department to have scientists in the State Department and as Berkner is a very distinguished man in his field, his advice was accepted; so 10 scientists were appointed to the embassies in London, Stockholm, Paris and Tokyo. What they did there, the mimeograph before me does not say, except that they were very important and that the service should be continued.

It strikes me that with all the varied scientists available in the government, in universities and in private enterprise, if the government needs to get hold of one for some special purpose, as for instance, to prime the President on heavy water or plankton or something like that, it ought to be possible to pull the biggest authority on the subject out of a filing cabinet and bring him down to Washington or to send him abroad. It is like when the family doctor needs to convince you that you are very sick and you have serious doubts on the subject, he brings in a specialist who tells you that if you don't listen to him, you will surely die. The family doctor always knows the name and telephone number of an available specialist. It would seem to me that the Administration in Washington could have similar information about all kinds of scientists.

Much of this excitement over scientists as diplomats undoubtedly arises from all this atomic business and the need for having someone around who can talk scientific jargon which is a language all on its own and requires considerable study even to be able to read a page in a chemistry or a physics book. Everything since Einstein has been made so complicated that what one learned in his youth no longer helps much. So even if we had educated ambassadors, they would be stuck when they saw it all put out in Greek letters with parentheses all around everything and little numerals on the side.

But it is possible to hire an expert to translate most of this stuff into English and even a foreigner will do, since now there are no more secrets, everything having either been stolen or given away.

But why fire only the scientists? There are all sorts of surplus baggage attached to every embassy, people who have nothing to do with our foreign relations but live abroad on an expense account and buy their cigars at an embassy PX. Somebody ought to discover how these extra attaches have messed up American foreign relations because it would seem that wherever they are most numerous and spend the most money, the United States is most disliked by the natives.

In England, for instance, where we have an enormous staff and spend money all over the place, we are hardly understood by the populace at all, and I can recall listening to an argument on a street in London, after a political meeting, in the course of which a Communist asked, "Who keeps bases in this country, the U.S. or the USSR?" And there was no one to tell him that those bases were there to keep England from being conquered.

So what do we have the attaches there for? What do they do for us? What do they tell the people?

dolphin's review in the paper, I am wondering if any of the defects in Mr. Rubes' performance could have been caused by the excessive noise produced by the college students in the audience. I have been aware at recent concerts that the noise gets progressively worse, and last evening it reached its peak.

I understand this group is a Music Appreciation group. Frankly I think their appreciation should be confined to the class room and not out in public where we music lovers go for an evening of relaxation and enjoyment. I think you will agree that it is most difficult to sing to an audience of constant giggling, and talking. It was difficult to listen, and I would imagine much more difficult to perform.

I have observed in churches, for children's choirs, they have monitors throughout the group. I would suggest that for these immature college students a plan of this sort be worked out, before another year starts. Also a good course in manners might be given.

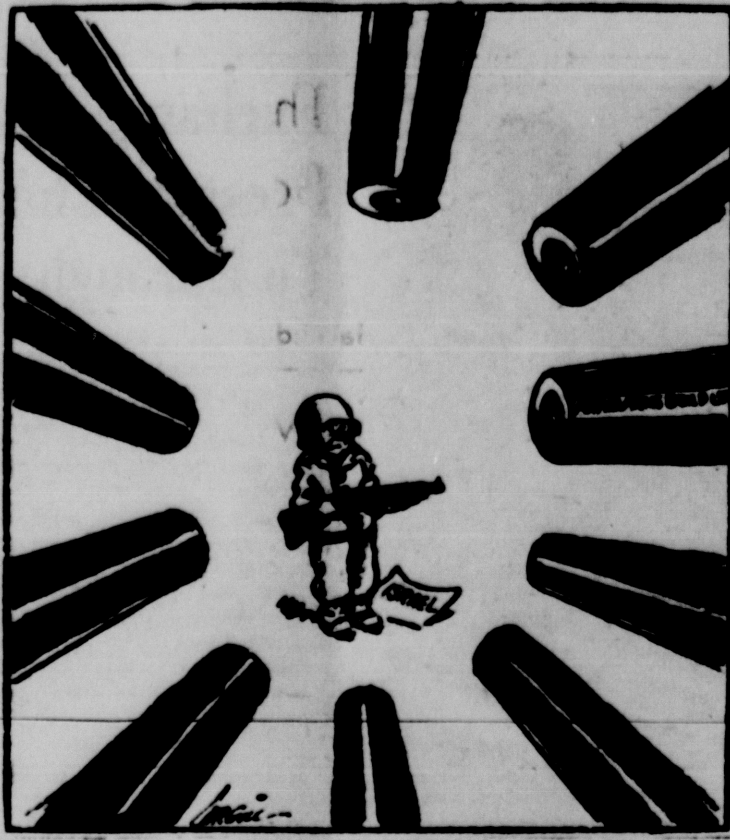

I would appreciate it if you would publish this letter, as I feel there were many people who felt the same as I.

LOST TRIBES OF 1956?

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE

Teaching On Television Has Proved Successful

The time had come, the proxy said, to talk of many things. Not cabbages and kings, but teaching via television. This was at the Chicago conference of the Aasn. for Higher Education earlier this month.

By 1970, a professor's hardest job may be getting his TV make up on straight, if Dr. Alvin C. Eurich's views are adopted. Or the next most difficult problem—if Mr. Beardsley (pay-as-you-go) Ruml's predictions pan out—may be wondering what to do with their big salaries. Mr. Ruml looks forward hopefully to the day when Professors earn between $18,000 and $30,000 a year.

Whether there was an applause meter at the conference, on which the 1,000 deans and college presidents could register the winning contestant, reports neglected to say. But it did seem as though they would like Mr. Ruml held over another week and that Dr. Eurich could audition some place else.

Stiff opposition to "teaching via television" is still mighty stiff, even though such programs are now being carried on in several big schools. Successfully, too.

"Why the opposition?" is the $64,000 question, studying up for 50,000—the latter figure being the number of NEW teachers needed by 1970 if freshmen continue to pour in. Resistance among faculty folk might stem from comparing their salaries with that of a television quizmaster—whose reported take-home wage is above $100,000 yearly. And he reads his answers from printed cards! True enough, for the job his teeth must be filed, and his tailoring impeccable. With a 100 grand you can buy lots of teeth, lots of tuxedos.

Folks who take their erudition straight are apt not to take television in any form. Years ago they peeped at a roller derby waited over a snowy channel, or yet an early Berle dressed in rabbit suit, and straightaway opined that maybe such fare was fit for ignoramus but its flatulence and drivel should never darken their living rooms. They looked—once. Once was enough.

But while the TV-scoffers had their backs turned, a miraculous medium sprang up, one which has the greatest educational potential imaginable. In a short time big schools will do big things with big screens. Television, that is. Great teachers will communicate great ideas to as great an audience as has ears to hear.

And who shall say the top 10 ratings of 1970 may not include Professor J. Gleason Goldsmith with his Seminar on Semantics?

Nehru Hopes To Persuade Eisenhower On Two Points

Washington, March 27 — Two extraordinary aspirations are behind Premier Nehru's decision to come to the U.S. early this summer.

The Indian leader, President-elect Eisenhower's invitation expressly in the hope of being able to persuade him on the following major changes in Far Eastern policy:

The Chinese Nationalists to give up their strongly-fortified coastal outposts on Quemoy and Matsu Islands. The U.S. is against that.

Hold elections this year on the unification of South Vietnam and Red-ruled North Vietnam. South Vietnam is vigorously opposed to such a ballot for the present, and the U.S. is supporting that stand.

This is what the President has been told by Secretary of State Dulles, who recently had two long conferences with Nehru, totaling more than six hours. Dulles gave Ambassador John Sherman Cooper credit for prevailing on Nehru to come to Washington in July. The former Kentucky Senator is highly esteemed throughout India.

Dulles reported he held out no hope to Nehru that the President can be won over on these far-reaching "missions."

But the Indian Premier was not discouraged by this frank advice. With equal candor he argued with Dulles that only by such action can the U.S. assure peace in Southeast Asia, and effectively counter Communist tactics and propaganda among the former colonial peoples of this strategic region.

The SEATO alliance and increased military aid to Pakistan were cited by Nehru as "particularly glaring provocations" that he proposes to discuss with the President.

As a militant nationalist, Nehru has persistently spurned SEATO, although accepting hundreds of millions of dollars in economic aid from the U.S. That is now averaging upwards of $50,000,000 a year. Pakistan is a member of SEATO, and gets both military and economic aid from the U.S.

Note: Nehru's last official visit to Washington was in 1949, during the Truman Administration. At that time Nehru's sister, Madame Pandit, was Ambassador to the U.S. Since then she and her brother have disagreed on his neutralist hofnobbing with Red China and Russia.

Under Scrutiny — Congressional leaders reacted quick and sharp when informed by Secretary Dulles of Nehru's urging Nationalist withdrawal from Quemoy and Matsu Islands.

"It is his contention," Dulles related to the legislative chiefs at the White House conference, "that the Nationalists' evacuation of these coastal strongholds will clear the way for solution of the whole Formosa problem. Nehru believes that could be dealt with far more easily."

Instantly Senate Republican Leader William Knowland, Calif., demanded, "What position did you take; what did you tell him?"

"That giving up Matsu and Quemoy Islands is out of the question at this time," replied Dulles. "I made it clear the Nationalists are determined to retain these offshore positions, and that we support this policy. I further pointed out to Nehru that if the Chinese Communists will renounce the use of force in the Formosa area, a solution of this issue can be worked out. But they are refusing to do that, and until they do we are standing firm on our present policy."

House Democratic Leader John McCormack, Mass., raised the point of continuing aid to India despite Nehru's pro-Red neutrality.

"Many members of Congress," said McCormack, "who have been hearty supporters of the foreign aid program are fast losing patience with Nehru and his lack of appreciation for what the U.S. is doing for his country."

"I have lost patience at times, myself," said Dulles. "But I don't feel that should cause us to deny India economic aid. That would be a grievous mistake."

Despite occasional Red artillery and other attacks on Quemoy and Matsu Islands, Dulles stated that American military commanders doubt a full-scale attempt will be made to seize them. The Communists have the capability of launching an offensive for this purpose, but there are no indications they are planning to do that at present.

Dulles also told the congressional leaders that he ran into the same question in virtually every country he visited during his Far Eastern trip.

"Almost everywhere I went," he said, "I was asked if the U.S. intends to keep ahead of Russia in military arms and strength. Leaders in Japan and Pakistan were particularly concerned about this. I assured them there will be no letdown in our military power, and that President Eisenhower would never permit the U.S. to fall behind the Communists."

Steel Plays Doctor For Eastburg Man

By Jim Riley

Snap, crack, pop and maybe a little grind turned a great amount of pain into a feeling of comfort for Bill Hay, of 169 King Street, East Stroudsburg, according to a story told this reporter by Bill Deering, former editor of The Daily Record.

According to the yarn spun by Bill (Deering that is), Bill (Hay this time), is an accomplished swimmer and likes to partake of his favorite sport both Winter and Summer, although during the former he does his splashing indoors.

Hay, who is an ironworker by trade, went for a swim a short time ago and during a dive struck his head on the edge of the pool. In addition to a good headache, the East Stroudsburg resident suffered an injury to the upper portion of his back.

Bill suffered great pain and some disability, but he insisted on reporting to his job within the confines of Lehigh County, where he is employed with a group of expert structural steel workers on a big demolition project.

During the course of the work day, Bill, still suffering more pain than he cared to admit at the time, stumbled upon a medical treatment beyond the grasp of modern medicine.

A big piece of steel was being swung away from the building being torn down. The crane hoisting the metal needed a lift and fellow workers called to Hay to drop what he was doing and give the piece of metal a push.

Bill put the weight of his back and shoulders into the task of pushing the metal and when he did there was a distinct feeling of two bones or sockets falling into place in the region of his neck.

The feeling of sharp pain was gone and in its place came a soreness that is now almost completely a thing of the past. Right now the only result remaining from the swimming accident is that contained by memory.

Bill is back on the job now, without the worry of just how serious the injury could be and without the troublesome pain.

Not only did the swinging piece of steel and slow moving crane do the job of the doctor, but there wasn't any charge for its services.

Traces Local History In Germany

"In Mutterstadt, the old inn, stood about where our courthouse would be and the Town Hall was where the Dr. Metzgar's offices are," explained Mrs. E. H. Calkins in her talk to the Jacob Stroud Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution yesterday afternoon.

The burgemeister's office, where she went to inquire about the marriage of one Abram Transeau in 1721 was in the town hall. He not only helped her to locate the records of the marriage of Abram Transeau to one Ann Muller (they later moved to Monroe County and are ancestors of the present Transeau family here) but also referred her to a Dr. Broun at Kaiserslautern (sort of like Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, in size and location) where she confirmed her theory that the Transeaus were originally French Huguenots who had moved into that section of Germany.

Mrs. Calkins also found Garries still living in that section, and traces of Shaffers, Rusters, Koehlers, Kistlers, Lesnoies and other family names familiar in this section. The one thing Dr. Broun, a prominent genealogist of Germany, wished from her was a telephone book of this section.

Mrs. Calkins' trip to Europe last summer was as unusual as the woman who made it. Entirely alone, without advance reservations she spent two months in Europe, visiting Frankfurt, Cologne, Amsterdam, Geneva, Venice, Verona, Pauda, Rome, Mannheim, Heidelberg, Paris and London—and all on a strict budget.

"People ask me what I did in the evenings, all alone," she said, "I'll tell you—I spent it with pad and pencil figuring up how much I'd spent on American money. On a tour your money is exchanged for you, but traveling alone, you have to do it yourself."

Traveling alone, you also make many friends and acquaintances you'd never make on a guided tour, her talk made it evident. Besides the burgemeister and the genealogist, Mrs. Calkins met an exchange teacher from Lehighton, traveled on a military bus when she missed her own as the "mother" of one of the army wives, was assisted to her hotel by a group of school children when she traveled on a school bus, and went to a bridge party in one of the biggest homes in Zurich, with a monkey in the dining room.

In some places, there was no English spoken but with adequate French and an increasing knowledge of German, she had no difficulty outside being "cheated" by taxi drivers, and losing some gift silver spoons from her baggage.

Mrs. Calkins was introduced by Mrs. Harold R. Flagler Jr. Mrs. Marvin Abel had arranged special music featuring four pupils of Mrs. Elsie Low. The young pianists played two selections in a two-piano double duet, and also two solo numbers. They were Danny Abelloff, Robert Reed, Allen Reader and Jackie Fellman.

Mrs. T. Manning Curtis, regent, presided at the business meeting when Mrs. T. J. Breitwieser, Mrs. C. B. Altomero and Mrs. Marvin Abel were elected to the nominating committee. Mrs. Dale Learn gave a five-minute talk on national defense.

Following the meeting tea was served by the hostess committee. Mrs. Abel and Mrs. Breitwieser were co-chairmen of the committee which included Mrs. James Groner, Mrs. Paul Dellaria, Mrs. Henry Tucker and Mrs. B. K. Williams.

New Ways To Serve Shrimp Make Welcome Menu Change

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

New Shrimp Recipe! One we like so much we are putting it on our list of favorites. It boasts an unctuous sauce of an attractive color—the sort we remember eating in Paris. Another inducement: No separate cooking of the shrimp in water for this dish.

Flavor? The sauce has a slight bite to it. All the better, we say, to eat with the bland seafood. We served this shrimp in scallop shells as a first course for four, bringing on plenty of toast for sauce-dabbing. After it came broiled lobster tails with melted butter, a big salad of romaine, cucumber and French dressing. Dessert was an apple cobbler with a soft custard sauce made from a packaged mix with brandy flavoring added. Roast chicken would make a good follow-up for this shrimp, too. And dessert might be omitted in favor of cheese and fruit.

Or use this shrimp as a main course, serving three. Spoon it over rice, if you like, instead of toast. Add a cooked green vegetable—green peas, snap beans, broccoli or asparagus. A fine main course you'll have, this way, for lunch or supper.

One word of advice: This recipe calls for curry powder, and these powders vary in flavor and strength. Find a curry powder to your taste. One we particularly like is imported from India.

Saucy Shrimp
Ingredients: 1 pound shrimp, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1/2 pint (1 cup) light cream, Tabasco sauce, 6 to 8 slices bread, butter.

Method: Shell and devein shrimp, using cold water to clean; dry well. Heat butter in 1-quart wide-bottomed saucepan until it hisses. Add shrimp and cook over moderate heat, stirring gently until opaque through and tinged with pink. Remove from heat. Sprinkle flour, salt, celery salt, curry powder and paprika over shrimp. Return to low heat and stir to coat; add Worcestershire sauce, chili sauce and cream; stir constantly until thickened and simmering; simmer for several minutes but do not boil. Sauce will be on thin side. Meanwhile toast bread and spread with butter; cut each slice into 4 triangles and keep hot in low oven. Spoon shrimp into 4 scallop shells or other individual dishes; perch 2 triangles of buttered toast at sides of each shell; accompany with extra toast. Makes 4 first-course servings. Or serve with toast or rice for 3 main-course servings.

Note: Use the shrimp that count from 24 to 28 per pound for this recipe. The recent trip—ports of call were Kingston, Jamaica; Cartagena, Colombia; Cristobal, Panama; Port Limon, Costa Rica and Ovarna, Cuba—she said far exceeded the group's expectations. "The idea was to promote friendships and get acquainted," she explained, "and though some days were pretty hectic, in general the trip was more leisurely than most. Almost everywhere we went we made kissin' friends, taking down each other's addresses, promising to correspond."

In Jamaica some of the North American group promised individual club support of community centers where much help is needed in the way of proper clothing, not only for school children but for couples who want to get married. The natives have so much pride, Mrs. Chapman explained, they won't participate in a marriage ceremony, or send their children to school unless they have enough clothes to wear.

Easter Program Today
Effort — The annual Easter program of St. John's Ev. and Reformed Church, Effort, has been changed. It will be held to night at 7:45 instead of Thursday night, as originally planned.

Just Between Us
—By Bobby Westbrook
Travelogues are difficult things to do. Besides the natural envy of your stay-at-home audience, you have to overcome what they've seen in picture magazines and travel movies, and read in the travel folders.

Which is why it's such a happy experience to have someone like Florence Calkins tell you about a trip. She doesn't bother you with statistics or National Geographic detail. Instead, she lets you in on how she felt:

You can smell Venice with its motor boats and floating orange peels. You panic when you see your suitcase gaily disembarking with a family bound for the Swiss Alps and you on the train for Geneva.

You shudder at the centipede that creeps out from under the bed, and you learn that if you wrap your six-o'clock pitcher of hot water in blankets and your raincoat it will still be warm enough for a bed-time sponge bath.

In short, if I have to travel by proxy, I can't think of anyone I'd trust more to have my kind of adventures, to see what I'd like to see.

And if I'd had a little more time yesterday afternoon, I'd like to have used my eyes to see for you what the well-dressed woman is wearing this Spring. Palm Sunday was too chilly to see much more than the tip of the Easter hats peeping from turned-up coat collars. But yesterday the women attending the luncheon across the street risked the chill breezes for the sake of that new suit, and they did look handsome.

Markin Speaks At OES Banquet
Rev. Luther E. Markin, pastor of the Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian Church was the guest speaker at the annual banquet of Shutanka Chapter, 202, Order of Eastern Star, of Pen Argyl held on Saturday night at the Richmond Methodist Church.

They may attend each month or only occasionally, and for the whole time from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. or any portion of that time.

Womanly Art

Albuquerque, N. M. — YWCA officials cautiously hoped they could fill up a class of 25 when they offered a course in judo for women.

They not only filled up the class, but announced they have 275 other high school girls, housewives and women office workers waiting on future classes.

I should be ashamed to admit it—but the fact remains that among the things I learned yesterday is that kapok is not a synthetic. Probably every one else knew ages ago that it's as natural a substance as cotton. But I didn't. I thought it was a combination of cotton and man-made substances, resulting in a superior stuffing for pillows, upholstery and such. So, it was very enlightening to hear my Boss talk about the kapok trees of Mexico that shed their white fluff all over the ground.

Traveling surely does broaden one—even when it is done the second-best way, by listening to the fascinating stories of the returned traveler. This is why I always welcome Mr. Wyckoff's travel talks on our Wyckoff's radio broadcast. Thanks to his firsthand report of yesterday, I shall always picture Mexico as a huge floral bouquet . . . a land where geraniums are not content to be just geraniums in a pot, but where they climb everywhere in glorious bloom . . . and where the bougainvillea, royal poinciana and poinsettia grow in splendor around even the humblest mud huts.

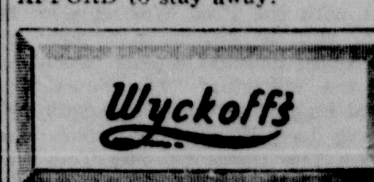

Frankly, I was surprised to hear Mr. Wyckoff describe Mexico as a progressive nation. For years, I had carried the false impression that our neighbors South of the Border were more interested in the afternoon siesta than in progress. His description of the cities, the new architecture, and the thriving university was indeed eye-opening. It was eye-opening too to hear that a student of limited means can have a higher education for approximately $16.00 a year.

My Wyckoff paid special tribute to the reverence and sincere practice of their religion which is a very important part of the average Mexican's life . . . a devotion which he witnessed at close range when he united with them in a service of their faith.

But for all of this, Mexico in its march toward modernity, has still a long way to go. "The streams are their Easy washers down there," said by Boss. "There along the banks you see the women, scrubbing away—and I remember seeing a woman with a baby on her hip, a galvanized washtub full of clothes on her head, and her arms filled with bundles, walking along the road. We traveled all across Mexico and saw only one tractor, but there were oxen everywhere, and old stick plows such as were used in the time of our Lord."

There are drawbacks to even the most perfect human conditions, I guess. The one stick plow, and washing by the stream, may detract somewhat from the glory of bougainvillea on a mud roof. But Mexico looms in my mind now as an upcoming nation, with an unbeatable combination of assets—the faith of a devout people, and natural wonders of unsurpassing beauty. What's more, there are Mexicans in never-ending numbers to help develop the resources that are so richly theirs.

GOING . . . GOING . . . ALMOST GONE. That's how it is right now with our Wyckoff 81st Anniversary Specials. The sale continues today, through Wednesday but when it's over, it's DONE for another year! We may not have every special offered still on hand, because we've been selling them the past ten days—but there are still hundreds of wonderful values that save you from 20 to 25%. There are fashion buys galore just in time for Easter, and any number of values to beautify your home for spring and summer. My gosh, you can't AFFORD to stay away!

Girls Adopt Shaving For Complexion

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Each little girl dipped a man's shaving brush into a man's shaving mug, and busily lathered her face.

Marjabelle Young, a professional model who thought up the idea, looked on happily.

So many other things once considered exclusively masculine—smoking, trousers, the barroom—have gone feminine. Is the shaving mug, already shaken by the electric razor and ready made lathers, to go sissy too?

"It certainly is," Miss Young said. "It's just the thing for a girl's complexion. Once they hear about it, girls everywhere will be using their dad's brush."

Necessity

Necessity, the mother of so many of mankind's achievements, spurred Miss Young on to her great idea, too. She had started the "Little Miss School" in suburban Silver Spring, Md., to teach girls how to model.

"Oh, it went beautifully," Miss Young said, "except for one thing. Do you realize that little girls simply will not wash their faces?"

So Marjabelle thought and thought, trying to come up with something that would make face washing fun.

Complexion brushes? Okay, but too expensive.

"Then I thought of it. Dad's shaving brush! Show them, girls." Three 10-year-olds snipped on soap, as free wheeling as a veteran barber.

"M-m-m," Martha Ann Ross said, "nice and gooeey."

"I got some on my eyelashes," Ann Haycraft said.

Mirror

Linda Ruth Laycock didn't say anything, just dabbed and admired herself in the mirror. Miss Young said she long has felt sorry for the girl of from 8 to 12. "The awkward age," she said, "that's what everyone says of them. Isn't that horrible? So I've taught them good posture and how to walk. Do you realize that American women have the most ridiculous walk in the world? Yet a graceful walk is simple. Show them, girls."

The girls walked while Marjabelle made-believe she was describing a fashion show. It was graceful all right.

Then they went back to practicing shaving brush technique, and many a gay giggle came from those soap flecked lips.

To a man, it had an ominous sound. If you still care about that mug and brush, men, better hide them. Right now.

Talking Crow So Angry He Now Refuses To Speak

WINNIPEG, Man., March 26 (AP)—Klaus the crow is so mad he can't talk.

My, he had fun for a week. Escaped from his owner and flew around the suburbs cursing residents. Fooled housewives by imitating a cat. Then, while he was engaged in a small soliloquy, a girl slipped up and nabbed him.

Said Mrs. Edith Pasmussen, his owner: "He's mad. On he's mad. He refuses to talk."

TEACHING TEACHERS TO TEACH—Demonstration of methods used in modern social studies teaching was given at Classroom Teachers conference at Pocono Manor this past weekend by Josephine B. Kerns, supervisor of the fifth grade at the State Teachers College Laboratory School. Theme of "Lesson" was "Opening the Oregon Country." Children participating were: Carolyn Gilliland, Sally Lam-berson, Lanette Lockard, Helen Miller, Betty Neuman, Carol Plattenburg, Alberta Sargeant, Bonnie Jo Serfass, Suzanne Spinner, Kathy Whitaker, John Anthony, Billy Hall, Tom Heller, Jack Hinehine, Kim Hoffman, Billy Miller, Frank Smiley Jr., Karl Stabenow, Arthur Thompson and Marvin Van Buskirk. Stock Market Closes At Lower Mark

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The stock market wandered around a considerable portion of the time today and then closed slightly lower.

Prices spread over a range of around 3 points either way, although most changes were fractional.

Oils, which braced the Friday market, pushed ahead today on renewed buying. Coppers, however, ran into profit-taking based on softening world prices for the metal. Those two divisions contained some of the greater price changes.

Railroads made a good show of improvement, but they didn't quite have enough strength to close higher as a group. The steels and motors were mostly lower. Chemicals closed mixed. Aircrafts bettered their position late in the day and closed higher.

Record High
Friday's market closed at record high levels, the peak of a six-week rise. Such high prices have brought words of caution from many brokers who believe that a reaction at any time is a possibility simply because prices have gone so high without a correction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 20 cents at $190.30. On Friday it advanced 30 cents to a new record high.

The industrial component today was off 50 cents while railroads and utilities each lost 10 cents.

The market was quite broad with 1,228 individual issues traded. There was, however, an almost even balance between gains and losses with 484 up and 503 down. New highs for the year were scored by 130 issues while 33 touched new lows.

Volume came to 2,720,000 shares as compared with Friday's total of 2,980,000.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed. Many of the more active stocks were strong. Trading amounted to 1,880,000 shares. That compares with 1,540,000 shares traded Friday.

Corporate bonds and U. S. government issues over the counter were mixed.

Students In College

HONG KONG, March 26 (AP)—The official Red China News agency reports of 165,000 students entering college this year, 37.7 per cent will study engineering. Of the remainder 27 per cent will study teaching, nine per cent farming and eight per cent medicine and public health. The rest are scattered.

TODAY WE PAY TRIBUTE to a man on the WVPO staff who really isn't on the staff at all. On Sunday you might have heard "Lohengrin" . . . next Sunday, Easter, you'll have an opportunity to hear an entire production of "Messiah" with Isabel Ballie, Norman Walker, the Huddersfield Choral Society and the Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Sir Malcolm Sargent. This will be the first complete production of this score ever to have been heard on WVPO. And all of these "Adventures in Music" have been made possible by the untiring efforts of Dr. Donald E. Corson, Professor of Music at ESSTC.

Since the Messiah will be the last in this series of programs this year, we would like to publicly commend Dr. Corson for his excellent work. Programs of this type are especially difficult to prepare. And Dr. Corson possesses the unique talent of knowledge about his subject, sensitive awareness of the music lovers' taste and a deep feeling for his work. Response to "Adventures in Music" has been gratifying to the station and must certainly be well appreciated by Dr. Corson. It has been WVPO's privilege to present these shows each Sunday afternoon. The general feeling of many was summed up in this one note from a listener:

"Not since Dr. Damrosch's programs of long ago, has there been such a fine musical appreciation

James Roosevelt To Address Allentown's Jewish Appeal

ALLENTOWN, March 26 — James Roosevelt, Congressman from California and eldest son of the late President Roosevelt, will be the principal speaker here at the Eastern Pennsylvania Regional Conference of the United Jewish Appeal at the Americus Hotel on Sunday, April 8. Congressman Roosevelt will report on the tense and ominous developments affecting the freedom of Israel's people and the Jews of North Africa.

The UJA Conference will bring together Jewish community leaders from throughout the eastern part of Pennsylvania to intensify local support for the 1950 UJA campaign which is UJA's most crucial since 1948 when Israel's people won their independence," according to Morris Senderowitz, Jr., of Allentown, Conference Chairman. Mr. Senderowitz stated that there will be no solicitation of funds at this conference.

Beginning with a session at 10 a.m., the conference will continue with a luncheon and afternoon session which will be addressed by Congressman Roosevelt.

Co-Chairmen
Serving with Mr. Senderowitz as co-chairmen of the conference are Devere Kauffman of West Chester and Nathan I. Kuss of Wilkes-Barre.

Like his illustrious mother, Eleanor Roosevelt, and the late President, his father, U.S. Representative Roosevelt has always associated himself with the freedom-loving aims of the United Jewish Appeal.

His election in 1953 to Congress followed many years of political activity, first during the campaign of Alfred E. Smith in 1928, then for his father in succeeding elections, and finally with former President Truman.

A communication to the hundreds of communal leaders in the Eastern Pennsylvania area, signed by Mr. Senderowitz and his co-chairmen, urged them to "mobilize maximum attendance from your communities" at the conference because "the fate of many thousands of Jews overseas depends upon the outcome of this year's crucial campaign."

Responsibilities
The conference officials emphasize that the responsibilities of the United Jewish Appeal this year fall into two major areas:

(1) The emergency resettlement in Israel this year of at least 45,000 Jewish men, women and children fleeing tension and danger in Morocco and Tunisia. To help meet this need which will require a minimum of $45,000,000 the UJA seeks to raise a Special Fund of $25,000,000 "Plus" to be allocated exclusively to the Jewish Agency for Palestine, Israel's philanthropic body for immigrant aid.

(2) Strengthening of agricultural aid programs in Israel in behalf of many thousands of recent immigrants, and maintenance of critically-needed welfare and rehabilitation services and institutions in Israel, Europe, Moslem lands and the United States. Funds for these programs which will aid nearly half a million persons, will be sought through UJA's regular 1950 campaign for $105,000,000 and will be allocated to UJA's constituent agencies, the United Israel Appeal, the Joint Distribution Committee and the New York Association for New Americans.

Sports Trail --

By Whitney Martin

BRADENTON, Fla., March 26 — Charley Grimm was lounging on the Milwaukee Braves bench, his jaws working industriously on a cud of gum, cap askew, and one heel hooked over the bench to thrust a knee under his chin.

His Braves were about to take part in an epic struggle with the Chicago White Sox, and at the moment he was exchanging chit-chat with an assortment of sports writers. The observations were sound. In fact, that's about all they were.

"What's new, Charley?"

"Nothing much, just going through another spring training. Say, is that Larry Doby wearing glasses out there?"

"Yes, he's experimenting with them. Hasn't worn them much. Says he doesn't notice much difference. What do you need most?"

Needs Relievers

"Well, we need a bullpen, and second base isn't fixed up. And Bobby Thomson must come through in left field."

"How about your pitching?"

"We got Warren Spahn, and Lew Burdette, and Bob Buhl, and Chet Nichols."

"How about Gene Conley?"

"He's a pretty big risk to count on. His back, you know."

"Any good rookies?"

"That Wes Covington is hitting the ball real good. A lot like Doby hits—left field fence. And we have three young left-handed pitchers who are a cinch to make it. Not this year, but in two or three years."

"Who are they?"

Rookie Hurters

"They're Taylor Phillips, Vic Rehm and Bob Hartman. All real good."

"Who besides your club do you think will give the Dodgers trouble?"

"That St. Louis club isn't a seventh place club in my book, with all those young fellows and Musial and Schoendienst. If they get any pitching they can be tough. They beat us the other day, but of course it was Stu Miller again. He's always tough for us. And that Cincinnati team can knock your brains out. Just give them pitching, too."

"How come you were 11-11 with the Pirates last year? Did the players think they had a soft touch, and let up?"

Sizes Up Bucs

"Not our players. That's baseball. You can't figure those things. They've got some good young players. That Vern Law, he's pretty good. And Bob Friend, he'll beat you."

"It was the same thing between Cleveland and Washington last year. Washington couldn't beat anybody else, but they beat Cleveland 13 times. The Yankees beat Washington 16 times, and Cleveland beat the Yankees 13 times. You figure it out. Somebody asked Casey Stengel what kind of a manager Charley Dressen was. Casey said, 'He's a great manager. Didn't he beat the Indians and knock them out of the pennant?' That was a pretty good answer."

Stengel Years

"That Casey. He said he had a bat boy over in Japan who was so fast that when a pitcher got a hit the boy grabbed the bat, ran it back to the dugout, grabbed the pitcher's jacket and was standing on first base holding it for him when he got there."

And probably stopped at the water cooler for a short snort, no doubt.

Arcaro Is Named February's Pro

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Veteran Jockey Eddie Arcaro today was named winner of the February award in the pro athlete of the year poll for his great ride aboard Nashua in the Widener Handicap at Hialeah.

Arcaro received 40 first place ballots and a total of 147 points (on a 3-2-1 basis) from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Pettit Is Second

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, scoring leader of the National Basketball Assn., was second with 12 first place votes and 63 points. Forward Gordie Howe of the National Hockey League's Detroit Red Wings was third with 61 points followed by Jean Beliveau, Montreal Canadiens of the NHL, 56, golfer Ted Kroll, 46, and Paul Arizin, Philadelphia Warriors of the NBA, 35.

Fred Haney, new coach for the Milwaukee Braves, formerly managed the Pittsburgh Pirates and was a player for the Tigers, Red Sox, Cubs and Cardinals.

National Unit On Sport Rule Cites Maguire

CHICAGO — Dr. Frank P. Maguire, of East Stroudsburg, was awarded a honorary life membership on the National Football and Basketball Rules Committee at a conference of the nation-wide group here at the Morrison Hotel over the weekend.

Maguire, a member of the rules committee for 20 consecutive years, is the fourth person of the legislative body to receive such an honor.

First In 20 Years

It also was the first time in 20 years that a member of the national organization was cited with a honorary life membership.

Maguire is chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic Association's officials unit and is editor of the Palmetto, official magazine organ of the PIAA.

Kern Captures Top Honors In Gun Shoot

BANGOR — Clay Kern, of Bangor, captured top honors in the dead mark shoot of the Blue Mountain Rod and Gun Club on the organization's grounds near here Sunday.

Other prize winners included Clayton Woolley, Perino Nerino, John Linaberry, Don Davies and Ralph Beck, all of Bangor, and John Guinta, of Easton, who won two rounds.

Ed Diehl, of Stroudsburg, came in second in two of the rounds.

Frank A. Winner

Splashboard contests were won by Charley Frank, of Stroudsburg; John Morikin, of Wind Gap; and Bob Searfoss, of Bangor.

In a blue rock miss and out firing, Ed Diehl and Bucky Hess, of Bangor, grabbed off the top awards.

Club officials announced that the next shoot will be held on the group's grounds, Sunday, April 8, starting at 1 p.m. The highlight of the shoot will be a blue rock firing.

Perini Selling Baseball On Foreign Soil

ROME, Italy, March 26 (AP)—President Lou Perini of the Milwaukee Braves is back in the land of his forefathers selling baseball and democracy.

He hopes to return next year with his ball club and—if possible—the Brooklyn Dodgers to give Italy, Germany, France, Ireland and perhaps some other countries a look at major league ball.

"Each year the State Department asks a big league club to go to Japan," Lou said in an interview today. "They told me the trips have done a great deal to combat communism there. Well, you know how important Europe is. Why not come here?"

Italy-Americans

"Look at Joe DiMaggio, Johnny Antonelli and—why every club has Italy-Americans. By increasing interest in baseball, I want to see if I can't contribute something of the American way of life in the sports field over here."

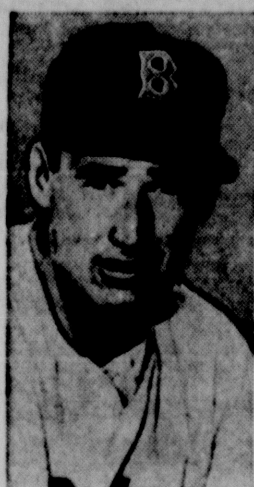

"Just think—what if the World Series really was a WORLD Series in a few years. Wouldn't that be something?"

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., March 26 (AP)—The New York Giants scored five runs on one hit in the first inning and went on to wallopp the Baltimore Orioles 14-1 in a cactus league game today.

Wildness by righthander Ray Moore helped the Giants to their fast start. Moore, pitching only the first inning, walked four straight batters. An error by rightfielder Dave Philley didn't help.

Byrne Debuts Pitch Called 'Kimono Ball'

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Tommy Byrne, 36, the New York Yankees' unpredictable southpaw, has come up with a new pitching gimmick — "the kimono ball."

"I picked it up while I was in Japan," the Tar heel from Wake Forest, N. C., told the New York Post. "I just use it on special occasions."

Byrne, who has been accused of talking to batters and making batters talk to themselves, gave his new pitch its American debut in the exhibition game here yesterday with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Uses It on Pee Wee

In the fifth inning the Dodgers' shortstop, Pee Wee Reese, came to bat with nobody on base. The pitcher was Byrne. The count reached two strikes and one ball.

Then Byrne went into a weird contortion on the mound. He wrapped his throwing arm around his back, concealing the ball, and then unwound himself. The ball shot from somewhere toward the plate.

Reese, dumbfounded, fell away from the plate. The pitch was wide.

"What was that, for gosh's sake?" Reese exclaimed.

"That was his kimono ball (wrap around, get it?), replied Yankee catcher, Yogi Berra. "Better be careful he may throw it again."

Reese Stymied

"I didn't know what to think," Reese said later, after he had recovered his equilibrium. "I've been in baseball a long time but I've never seen anything like that before. I knew the guy was squirrely but I didn't know he was that bad. Hell's bells."

Regulation Will Remove One Threat Of Big Man

DALLAS, March 26 (AP)—Southern Methodist Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes thinks only a single basketball rule change will materially affect the game next season—it will remove one threat of big men like Bill Russell of San Francisco.

The National Basketball Committee adopted six rules changes at Chicago yesterday. One of them said "no offensive player may reach above the cylinder to guide an attempted shot into the basket."

Hayes said that Russell used his hands "like sideboard to guide the ball into the basket."

"The Shift" Cited

"Russell is graduating but Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the Kansas freshman, will be playing varsity basketball next season," Hayes observed. "This rule change will prevent his doing the same as Russell did with so much effect."

Chamberlain is a 7-footer. Russell was 6-foot-10.

Hayes, whose team was Southwest Conference and Western NCAA regional champion and lost to San Francisco in the NCAA semifinals, said he figured the thinking of the rules committee in adopting this rule change was to not let a team dominate the game as did San Francisco.

Plans Further Study

The SMU coach wasn't clear on the intent of some of the rules changes and said he would have to study them further before commenting on them but that the one that says two defensive players will assume positions under the basket when a free throw is being attempted will "cause everybody's free shooting average to improve."

Under this year's rules one defensive player and one offensive player took the positions under the basket. The result, Hayes said, was that in many instances the free throw shooter would bounce the ball off the edge of the basket for his man to leap up and tap in for a field goal. "Now the shooter can't have any of his players on either side of the basket, so he will be shooting for the free throw," Hayes declared.

Lowry Stopped In 8 Rounds By Unknown

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Larry Baker, a comparative unknown from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., stopped Pat Lowry, a reputed knockout artist from Toledo, Ohio, in 47 seconds of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Baker weighed 147½, Lowry 149½.

Baker, who brought an unimpressive 18-10-3 record into the ring, sent Lowry to the canvas for a nine count, with a solid right cross to the jaw at the start of the eighth.

Lowry got up, wobbled around the ring for a few seconds taking more punches, and Referee Pety Sculzo decided the Toledo boy had had enough. Lowry offered little protest.

Crowd Eros

Until that point, there hadn't been a knockdown, or, for that matter, a solid punch. The crowd of about 400 spent most of its time booing the fighters.

In 49 previous fights, Lowry had won 40, lost 9. No fewer than 28 of his victims were knocked out. But against Baker, he was as meek as a churchmouse.

The St. Louis Cardinals have the oldest battery in the big leagues when 42 year old Ellis Kinder pitches to 41 year old catcher Walker Cooper.

Tributes Set For Bombers And Hillers

HARRISBURG, March 26 (AP)—Resolutions to congratulate the Palmetton and Fountain Hill High School basketball teams were submitted to the House tonight.

Rep. Bonner (D-Barbon) introduced one commending the spirit and determination of the Palmetton squad. It calls the Palmetton Class A eastern regional championship victory over Radnor last week "a great victory, after a great season, for a truly great team."

Palmetton lost to Farrell, 57-45, in the state Class A title game Saturday.

Reps. Markley (R-Lehigh) and Steckel (R-Lehigh) asked the House to congratulate the Fountain Hill team, its coach, the faculty and student body for winning its first Class B state championship. Fountain Hill beat East Pittsburgh, 63-53, Friday.

Resolution

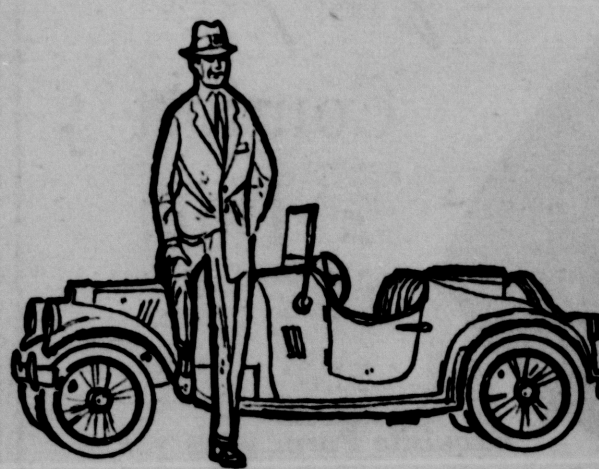

"The attainment of the championship for the first time in the schools' history after its splendid season record is a tribute to the ability and long hours of practice in which the team engaged under its capable coach, Mr. Charles Dubbs, the resolution states."

Nevil Draws Accolades Of Lehigh Coach

BETHLEHEM—Spring football practice at Lehigh University has been described by William B. Leckonby, now in his eleventh season, as "one of the better Spring practices we've had. There have been a few drop-outs and the spirit and interest has been high."

Leckonby reported that this year the Spring practice squad has numbered 42 men consistently. "This doesn't include approximately a dozen football players who are out for Spring sports," he added.

Only six men will be lost from the 1955 squad which posted a 7-2 record. Lehigh's schedule of nine games will be the same except that Virginia will replace Cornell.

Leckonby had high praise for a quartet of freshmen ends, and last fall's rookie quarterback, Daniel Nolan.

Cities Flankmen
"The work of four freshmen ends has been exceptional during Spring drills," Leckonby pointed out. "They show great promise and should give our veterans, Austin Short and Tom Fallace, plenty of support."

The flanks who have impressed the coaching staff are David R. Nevil, Stroudsburg; David C. Springman, Chester; Joseph M. Wenzel, Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y.; and Edward T. White, Sinking Spring.

Annoyed Sarni Appears Set For Cards' Catching Berth

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Bill Sarni, annoyed by a pay cut and a rookie's challenge, appeared today to have wrapped up the St. Louis Cardinals' first-string catching job.

Manager Fred Hutchinson said the incumbent varsity receiver has shown "he swings a good bat and takes charge back there. Yes, he's shown me more than I had expected."

Sarni, at 26, is starting his 14th season in professional baseball. He's been in the majors only two years.

Lane Deserves Assist
General Manager Frank Lane probably deserves an assist in the new fire displayed by the swarthy catcher. He telephoned Sarni at contract time to trim his pay and offer some advice.

"Umpires and others told me the same thing. 'If he'd only show more aggressiveness' ". Lane related. "I don't like to cut a player and, in fact, if I had to cut one much, I'd get rid of him."

Cut Was Small
Sarni's cut was small from his last season salary of about $11,000 but Lane said he was "resentful, understandably, and he bristled, too, when I told about his reputation. He told me, though, that if that was what I wanted, I sure as hell would get it."

"And I sure have," Lane added, "he's really running the show behind the plate."

Rookie Hal Smith provided the challenge to Sarni. He's regarded as a prospect with a good arm but a light touch at the plate.

Veteran Walker Cooper completes the catching corps after Dick Rand was returned to Rochester.

Leaders Of Three Nations Hold Meeting

Sixty minutes later the President walked to the curb to shake hands with Ruiz Cortines as he stepped from his limousine.

GRADING

"Glad to see you again," the beaming Eisenhower told his visitor. They first met in dedicating Falcon Dam on the U. S. - Mexican border in October 1953.

Ruiz Cortines, who spoke mostly through an interpreter, replied in English that he was glad to see Eisenhower.

In golfing with Sam Snead before the arrival of his guests, Eisenhower displayed no worry over more carefully since his heart attack. He pulled on flashy red skin slacks as protection against a cold rain which pelted down the first part of an 18-hole round.

His game was off a good bit and he carded a 23-over-par 93. But he and Snead teamed up to defeat their opponents, two White House aides.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and choose every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Hourly Wages Hit Record In Pennsylvania

NEW YORK, March 26 — Average hourly earnings of factory workers in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the three states which comprise the middle Atlantic region, were at record levels in January, according to Robert R. Behlow, Regional Director of the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

In announcing the results of the Bureau's monthly survey of employment and earnings Mr. Behlow pointed out that average hourly earnings in the three states ranged from three to eight cents above the national average of $1.93. New Jersey and Pennsylvania topped the $2.00 an hour mark with hourly earnings at $2.01 while in New York average hourly earnings were $1.96.

Hourly earnings throughout the region were at or near record high levels. Seventeen of the region's 24 metropolitan areas reported average hourly earnings at new all time highs, Mr. Behlow stated. There were ten areas, which reported hourly earnings above the $2.00 an hour level. Fourteen areas in the region were above the national average. Record weekly earnings were reported in six areas, all in Pennsylvania, while throughout the remaining areas average weekly earnings declined primarily as a result of a shorter workweek in January.

Despite the seasonal January decline in regional non-farm employment, the month was the best January on record. Non-agricultural employment totaled 11,361,200 workers about 117,500 fewer than in record-setting January 1953. Mr. Behlow pointed out that January records were established in New York and New Jersey but that Pennsylvania was below its peak January employment level.

Seasonal Losses
Despite heavy seasonal losses over the month, the nonmanufacturing industries, which employ six out of every 10 job-holders in the region, were at a January peak, with 7,171,800 employees. Record January employment levels were established in four of seven major industry divisions in non-manufacturing. New highs were set in finance, insurance and real estate, wholesale and retail trade services and miscellaneous, as well as in government.

The middle Atlantic region's manufacturing industries, which account for about 25 per cent of the nation's total, provided employment to 4,189,400 workers in January 1956, a decline of more than 50,000 from December levels. Most of the decline was concentrated in the non-durable goods industries and more particularly in the apparel industry.

All 15 of the region's metropolitan areas for which non-agricultural employment data is available, employment was at higher levels than last year. Manufacturing employment was higher than year ago levels in 21 of the areas. Only three areas were below January 1955 levels. Philadelphia and Westchester declined slightly, while in Nassau-Suffolk the drop was more substantial.
